

What is Heardbeats?

Heardbeats is a platform that has come to eliminate the barriers that currently exist in the live music industry and bring the concert experience to any location in real time through virtual reality. We believe that live concerts will undoubtedly be experienced in new ways in the near future. For this reason we will open an headquarters in Silicon Valley by the start of February 2018, permitting us to grow in the world's top startup ecosystem.

There are many limitations that prevent countless fans from attending their favorite artists concerts, including those fans that are both willing and able to purchase tickets. These limitations include: the number of tickets available for a concert is always limited by the capacity of the venue, fans' geographic location is too far from the concert venue, better locations in the concert venue result in higher prices, many people affected by mobility challenges and illnesses are unable attend a live concert, and concert security is increasingly important.

But with Heardbeats you will have:

- Exciting 360° transmission for a totally new experience with Virtual Reality
- Live multi-camera transmission to see exactly what you want in 4K Full HD in which you can select your desired camera angle.
- Exclusive content from your favorite artist with access to sound tests, backstage content, and exclusive interviews with the artist.
- Enjoy the experience on many compatible devices through a 360° unframed experience with surround sound.
- Interact throughout the concert with other fans who are also enjoying the concert through LiveChat.
- Special packages for the complete tour at exclusive prices that include tickets for each show on the tour and many more surprises.

All this with a privileged view, in any device and any place with an internet connection, and with the security and comfort of the place where you are!
